

A new age of high school sports: A look inside FHSAA NIL

By Marshall Tempest Apopka Chief Staff

Well, I'm sure you have heard about it by now, but the Florida High School Athletic Association (FH-SAA) unanimously passed the Name Image and Likeness (NIL) for High School athletes. Some are happy, and some are appalled, but there is a lot to know about FHSAA NIL before making any judgments on it.

First off NIL is not for sure yet. I know it's confusing when you read everywhere that it has been passed and to prepare for the best and worst, but this still has to be ratified by Florida's State Board of Education. The Board will vote on the proposition at their next board meeting. Without its approval NIL, will not be a factor, at least not this upcoming school year.

But let's assume it passes. What does it look like? Well, Florida would be the 37th state to approve NIL in the nation for high school athletes. Now, of course, this wave of NIL in high schools was only possible because of the huge NIL movement in college sports.

How did that start? To keep it short and simple, in 2015 the NCAA lost its appeal in a case over the NCAA's amateurism rules. The court decided that these restrictions for college athletes (being restricted from any compensation based on their ability to play or merchandising) were an unlawful restraint. In 2019, California became the first state to pass NIL legislation and prohibited the NCAA, and any of its member schools, from punishing student-athletes who would earn compensation from NIL deals. Shortly after that – the flood-gates opened. In 2020, Florida, along with a slew of other states, passed laws allowing for the monetization of student-athletes' names, images, and likenesses. In 2021, the NCAA's appeal to the Supreme Court was denied ending the legal battle and finalizing the decision made in the lower courts. That is, restricting a student-athlete from collecting revenue from or monetizing their name, image, or likeness is illegal and a violation of anti-trust laws. With this, the NCAA quickly made way to attempt to standardize and somewhat regulate a new age of college athletics.

Some of the perceived problems with NIL stem from the idea of a kid earning more money than most high-end careers do in a year, in one meeting before the athletes' season starts. Now, obviously, not every kid is making six figures off their NIL deal in college. A very large percentage don't.

But let's get back to Florida high school NIL. Now the FHSAA may have unanimously passed NIL and worried a bunch of people, but they didn't do so in haste. There are a lot of rules and regulations that restrict a high school player's ability to monetize compared to a college athlete.

FHSAA put out their "approved language" which is a PDF of FHSAA bylaw 9.9 containing all the rules and regulations regarding NIL for Florida student-athletes. This document provides everything you need to know about what is and is not permitted.

It's funny because the document does not start off by defining what an NIL agreement is – but I will. As defined by FHSAA, " An NIL agreement is a fully executed, written contract that allows for student-athletes to profit from or be compensated for promoting, partnering, and/ or representing product endorsements and other activities as defined in FHSAA Bylaw 9.9."

The document does start with "General Principles," which states that to compete in FHSAA athletic events the student-athlete has to be an amateur. They then define an amateur as "An amateur is one who engages in athletic competition solely for the physical, mental, social, and pleasure benefits derived from the activity."

The next paragraph talks about what actions can impact a student athlete's status as an amateur. Those actions are "(a) Competing for money or other monetary compensations; (b) Receiving any award or prize of monetary value which has not been approved by the FHSAA; (c) Capitalizing on athletic fame or performance by receiving money or gifts of a monetary nature; (d) Signing a professional playing contract in any sport or hiring a registered agent to manage his/her athletic career, other than for the purpose of advising on NIL related matters; (e) Competing under an assumed name. (f) Accepting a Name, Image, and Likeness (NIL) agreement that does not adhere to FHSAA

Apopka Pop Warner is the foundation of Blue Darter football

By Marshall Tempest Apopka Chief Staff

This week I got to spend some time with the Apopka Pop Warner football program for their annual off-season conditioning. I saw the grassroots of Blue Darter football and how we as a community stay competitive year after year.

It starts from a young age here in Apopka. Athletics is engrained into our community's culture and is a huge part of our history as a city. We are also blessed with unbelievable athletic talent regularly, so it's safe to say there might be something in the water here in Apopka. But beyond pure athleticism, Apopka sports has always been about family, hard work, and results. This foundation and mentality does not just manifest when a player joins the high school program – it begins much earlier than that at the youth level. Apopka Pop Warner's commissioner Ken Bryant talked to me about the program's mission, and said their main goal is to create a safe and fun environment.

"As with any youth sports organization, this is about creating an environment where the kids feel safe. Also, we're not just teaching the game but stressing competitiveness while at the same time keeping the game fun."

Bryant also said a major thing for him, and the Pop Warner coaches, is teaching the game the right way, giving them proper fundamentals, and setting the kids up for success in any endeavor.

"We've got a great group here, that's invested in the kids - fully invested in them. And not just with what we're doing on the football field and winning games - but we want these kids to win in life. We want our coaches to win and would like to create an environment where everybody feels safe, happy, and we're competing at the same time."

The Pop Warner age range for Apopka goes from seven years old to 14. During conditioning, the kids are started as a group with endurance drills such as laps and sprints. After the group component is finished and the kids are warmed up and stretched out, players are put into groups separated by age with one or two coaches

When the calendar turns to June, all-star competition is also turned to by the Little Leagues across the nation. Apopka Little League was somewhat different though. Rich tradition of claiming championships had been established. This year, the five teams representing Apopka Little League will attempt to realize the previous glory and prestige. For the first time in over a decade, no team representing Apopka Little League claimed a district championship and advanced last year.

There are three levels/ rounds of all-star play in the state of Florida, district, region and state. Apopka is a member of District 14. District 3, 14, 23 and 24 make up Region 5.

State champions then advance to one of the national (USA) regional championship tournaments. The final level/round is the Little League World Series, contested between the national (USA) regional champions and international regional champions. Number of regions and size of World Series fields differ from age group to age group. However, the smallest number is six and 10 the largest.

This year's District 14 championship tournaments are being held at Apopka's (Northwest Recreational Complex-3710 Jason Dwelley Parkway, Apopka), Dr. Phillips' (10496 Bissell Street, Orlando), Windermere's (Bai-

All-star competition was kicked off with the baseball 7-9 years age group during the first week of June. Pool Play with the first and second place teams meeting in a championship final was used. Apopka compiled a 2-2 record. However, only the district championship is contested for the age division.

Opening games of the Baseball Senior tournament were held on Monday, June 11. The other baseball teams are divided into 8-10 years (Minors), 10-12 (Majors) and 13-14 (Juniors). One softball team is representing Apopka Little league this year, 10-12 (Majors).

Butler chain has the best fishing

Hello Folks,

I'm in my office at home listenin' to the rain hittin' my house. It sounds so good. It looks like we are finally gonna get some rain this week, and I'm so thankful because we definitely need it. Hopefully it will help raise up the water levels in our lakes.

Well, the fishin' hasn't been too bad in most of the lakes and chains in our area. We have a full moon in a couple of weeks, so that would probably wrap up the bluegills and shellcracker season, for this year. If you want to try and catch some panfish, I would get some red worms, crickets, or some grass-shrimp and head out to East Lake or Lake Kissimmee for the best results.

The bass fishin' has been hit or miss in most of the chains and lakes in our area. The best bass fishin' has been in the Butler Chain. You will catch plenty of small- to keeper-size bass. You can catch'em on plastic worms, slow sinkin' Senko-type baits, and chatter-baits. As always, keep

Last Saturday, Xtreme Bass Series held a tournament on the St. Johns River. Congrats to John Kremer and Earl Lytle on their win. They weighed in 5 bass that hit the scales at 24.2 pounds. They also caught the big bass of the tournament weighin' in at 6.5 pounds. The team of Don Eady and Kenny Bivins won their tournament on the Kissimmee Chain. They were fishin' the X-treme Bass Series as well. They hit the scales with 5 bass that weighed 21.6 pounds. The big bass of the day went to Andrew Hall whose big bass hit the scales at 7.6 pounds. So, it seems the bass fishin' isn't doin' too bad in those two chains of

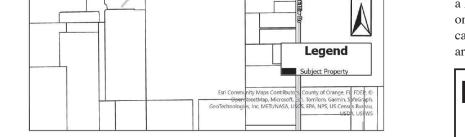

be so hot. Also, I wanted to send out congrats to John Brazzell and Josh Davis on their win on Johns Lake. They weighed in 5 bass that weighed 20.93 pounds. This is John's and Josh's third win of the year on the X-treme Bass Series team trail. Congrats guys on a great win.

If you are interested in fishin' a grassroots bass tournament like the Xtreme Bass Series tournament in your area, you can go on facebook and look up the divisions that are in your area of the state. You can also go to Home-Xtreme Bass Seriesxbseries.com and get additional information about the trail.

Well, folks, I wish I had more information, but with the high temperatures and the low water levels, it has kept a lot of folks home. Folks just ain't fishin' as much as they do in the cooler months.

I hope you have a great week and I hope to see ya on the water reel soon.

Bylaw 9.9."

When reading that for the first time, I thought to myself "Well, what are they allowed to do?" Well, it's actually very limited and controlled, which is unlike the NCAA NIL. What I mean by that is that the NCAA has not been able to create uniform regulations and guidelines. Instead, NIL in the NCAA is decided by the rules put in place by the student-athlete's state which means every state has a different set of rules.

Section 9.9.3 of the document talks about what is permitted and it sounds a lot like what a student-athlete was permitted to do before with slight changes.

"9.9.3 Permissible Awards, Gifts, or Other Compensation. A student-athlete will not forfeit his/her amateur status for accepting: (a) Symbolic awards such as school letters, medals, trophies, plaques, pins, keys, or ribbons of small monetary value purchased from an established award company; (b) Rings, sweaters, jackets, or award blankets if they are provided by the school which they represent and do not exceed the value of the purchase price from an established award company; (c) Remuneration of "essential expenses" for any game in which a student-athlete participates as a player; limited to meals, lodging, and transportation; (d) A College scholarship offer. (e) A Name, Image, And Likeness (NIL) agreement as defined in FHSAA Bylaw 9.9."

Now, the only real difference I see here between the years before is the ability for student-athletes to be reimbursed for what FHSAA calls "essential expenses." But then I kept reading and learned they are entitled to a bit more.

In section 9.9.4 the document states "Permissible activities include, but are not limited to, commercial endorsements, promotional activities, social media presence, product, or service advertisements." Now this is what people think of when they hear NIL. Sponsorships and endorsements are the face of NIL, and it looks like our high school athletes will be able to collect on those. But with that, there are numerous regulations as well.

Sections 9.9.4.3 through 9.9.4.4 talk about what is prohibited when dealing with NIL endorsements and sponsorships. The biggest thing with these endorsements or sponsorships is they cannot be affiliated with the school of the student-athlete whatsoever.

"9.9.4.3 Use of Member School, FHSAA, or NFHS Markings. Student-athletes are prohibited from making any reference to and will not otherwise use or authorize others to use the uniforms, logos, mascots, insignia, or identifying marks of a member school, the FHSAA, the NFHS, and/or any FHSAA, NFHS, or member school event, game, or championship when engaging in any NIL activity." It goes on to say that with explicit permission from "school, district or governing body of the school, or Association," that a student-athlete can get around the rules in section 9.9.4.3.

Another thing prohibited is endorsing or promoting "any third-party entities, goods, or services during school/district-sponsored activities or FHSAA activities." There is also a list of types of products or services that student-athletes are not allowed to be associated with.

"9.9.4.4 Prohibited NIL Engagements. Student-athletes are prohibited from engaging in any NIL activities involving the following categories of products and services: (a) Adult entertainment products and services; (b) Alcohol, tobacco, vaping, and nicotine products; (c) Cannabis products; (d) Controlled substances; (e) Prescription pharmaceuticals; (f) Gambling, including sports betting, the lottery, and betting in connection with video games, on-line games, and mobile devices; (g) Weapons, firearms, and ammunition; (h) Political or social activism; and (i) NIL Collectives."

The rest of the document outlines more things prohibited by the FHSAA and their penalties if a school, program, or student-athlete is found to be in violation of the bylaws. Some of the highlights are that no school employee or representative "may form, direct, offer, provide, or otherwise engage in any activity outlined in FH-SAA Bylaw 9.9." This basically means that schools cannot create or be involved in NIL deals. So, no. Schools cannot pay players to play for their team. This soon could change as the NCAA is fighting a similar case deciding if colleges can directly pay athletes to attend their school or program.

Other things prohibited include using NIL to recruit and the implantation of the "transfer portal" in high school

"9.9.4.7 Student Transfers. A student-athlete who transfers after starting a sport, shall be prohibited from securing an NIL Agreement that season, unless he/she meets one of the provisions outlined in Bylaw 9.3.2.2."

Another thing it prohibits is NIL Collectives. A NIL Collective is an independent organization that raises money for the sole purpose of providing capital for a program or school to entice players to join.

"9.9.4.2 NIL Collectives. NIL Collectives shall not include team fundraising but does include and is not limited to, groups, organizations, or cooperative enterprises that exist to collect funds from donors and businesses, to help facilitate NIL deals for student-athletes, and/or create ways for athletes to monetize from their NIL."

Coach Scott Williams of the Apopka Blue Darter basketball program gave me his take on NIL saying that its a new frontier and there will always be things to be excited and yet wary about.

"First, it's obviously an uncharted area for all schools, coaches, and programs, so there's a great deal of uncertainty. I am both concerned about its impact on high school athletics but also excited about opportunities that potentially would be available with a community as incredibly invested as the Apopka community is towards high school.

I'm hopeful that as an athletic department, our school will be very proactive in beginning, communication, and coordination with business leaders throughout our community because I would certainly rather be ahead of this than behind it."

This may be a lot to read and more information than you cared to know about FHSAA NIL, but I think it's important to understand the entire thing before forming an opinion. My contention is that FHSAA NIL seems controlled, more so than NIL in the NCAA. I think it will bring good and bad to high school sports, but if it is controlled and monitored well, this could be a very positive thing for athletes trying to create a brand around themselves before getting into college. A lot of athletes don't make it to the next level for a lot of reasons, some that aren't fair, but having the ability to even make a small payout on something the school, the county, and the FH-SAA are making huge profits on is not an evil thing in my eves.

Warner: A balance between fun, growth, and competition for their group.

Another coach I spoke to was Brandon Love, a longtime member of the Apopka Pop Warner program. Love told me that each coach has their own style and focus on what their kids and players will be focusing on with a lot of it having to do with their players' age, skill level, and commitment to the game. Love said he's lucky to have a lot of returning players, so they not only have a good relationship, but they have that Darter mentality instilled into them.

He has been around to see the growth of some of his players who started in 6U (six and under) now playing in 9U with him. He says it's been amazing to watch them grow and develop and be able to keep pouring more into them on and off the field.

"I am grateful for having a lot of returns for 9U specifically, and you know this will be my fourth year coaching. And so, I've been a part of the program for quite a while. I've seen a lot of come and actual go, but my heart has always worked for these kids," said Love.

For most of my time at the conditioning, I watched the older kids (14 U) practice. Commissioner, and coach, Bryant was one of the coaches in charge of the 14 U drills and had his kids working on creating space and route running while getting reps to his quarterback. He had them first work on getting past contact at the line or getting out of a jam.

One of the major focuses was on convincing the kids that doing too much or "dancing" at the line trying to get your defender to bite is bad football. He wanted them to focus on quick one-step movements to create space from the defensive back and get open quickly, stressing that the quarterback has an average of three to four seconds to get rid of the ball. Wasting two of those three or four seconds "dancing" at the line is hurting your chances of getting the ball.

"Stop trying to be computers; This is football, not a video game," said Bryant when trying to convince his players to keep it simple and quick.

One of the biggest things about youth sports is the difference between natural talent and work ethic. A lot of kids come out and are gifted and automatically excel. This can deter them from putting in work off the field, while some who don't have that same gift work harder than most to improve their game.

Bryant told me that at this level the kids will get as much out of it as they put in.

"Youth football is really about effort. What you put in is what you're going to get out of it.

Bryant also told me that finding out how much and where to push a kid is important, because some kids have different triggers, and some need different approaches to improve than others. In a way, it's all about finding the right buttons to press at the right time to get the most out of your players.

"We set a standard, we set an example, and I am not going to ask a kid to do anything I wouldn't do, so that's why you'll see me out there running drills and showing my age. But they have to see it. And the kid must know that you are 100 percent invested in him - like how coach Love is with his kids because that's when they give you that extra work and that extra effort."

But instilling the Apopka brand of work ethic into a young athlete isn't easy, and some may not even want it. Bryant told me that not every kid out there has the same focus or even the same aspirations.

"So you got a kid who is out here because his parents are forcing him to be, versus the kid who's getting ready to play high school football."

Some kids and parents are only out there for fun and friends, and that's ok. Not everyone wants to be an athlete... some just want to play sports. But no matter what, Apopka's program is going to do everything it can to make you grow in an encouraging and supportive environment.

"And of course, you'll see it, when you run these drills, when the going gets tough, when the conditioning gets hard, when the drills get a little tedious, and you're tired, after you've been running for an hour and a half, you'll see there's a little bit of a separation between the kids that want to do this and the ones who don't. And what you want to do is try to pull in to each child based on where they're at. We want to meet them where they are so that nobody gets discouraged. And so they're also having fun while they're growing and getting better. So again, we meet them at their level, and we build them from there."

Another huge part of conditioning and this off-season work is to break down the players and erase any bad habits they have formed, as well as get them back into that gametime mentality. With it being summer, Brant said a lot of the kids are in that lazy vacation mode.

"In a month from now, you're going to have another kid that might be bigger than you, running full speed straight at you, and they have been putting in work," Bryant said when talking about the need to always be working.

With youth sports, athleticism has a way of evolving or exploding very fast. A kid can hit a growth spurt, or get faster, or even just everything all of sudden clicks and they are ten times the athlete they were just a few months or weeks prior. Bryant told me in his 16 years of coaching youth football that spike in athleticism usually happens around 10 to 12.

"I've been doing this for about 16 years and right around 10 years old you'll start to see it, but when they get to 12, that's when it really starts to show. That's when they are right on the cusp of what their potential could be. I mean with some kids you see it at six or seven and you just know they have it. For some, it's natural and it just clicks for them. And for some, it doesn't click until they're 13 and it's the middle of the season and they finally figure it out."

All in all, it was interesting to see the foundations of Apopka football and meet those in charge of building and fostering a sense of work ethic in our youth. The Apopka Pop Warner program still has a few spots left, so if you are looking for something to keep your son busy, reach out soon before there are no spots left.
