Thanksgiving food distribution

Winn-Dixie and Second Harvest Food Bank of Central Florida teamed up to distribute 600 turkeys and sides for a traditional Thanksgiving meal for families facing hunger ahead of the holiday. The distribution was done at Operation Love Outreach at City of Destiny Church on Monday, November 18. Above left, volunteers sort food into bags for distribution to families. Above right, volunteers load bags of food into families' cars.

Second Harvest estimates one in eight Central Floridians – and one in six kids – are facing hunger this holiday season. While the food bank is distributing enough food for 300,000 meals a day, the need for food assistance remains elevated, hence the reason for partnerships like the one with Winn-Dixie, according to a press release from Second Harvest Food Bank.

The city will host its Apopka Tree Lighting on Friday, December 6, from 6 to 8 p.m. at Kit Land Nelson Park as the community comes together to celebrate the holiday season. Kit Land Nelson Park is located at 10 N. Park Ave., Apopka.

This free, family friendly event will feature holiday music, local vendors, and fun activities for kids. Craft vendors will be stationed around the park, offering a variety of unique holiday gifts. Guests can shop, browse local business booths, and enjoy a selection of savory and dessert food trucks.

Throughout the evening, holiday classics will be performed by local organizations and schools from Apopka and neighboring areas, each bringing their own festive arrangement to share with the community.

Santa Claus will also make a special appearance, giving children the opportunity to meet with him, share their holiday wish list, and capture the moment with a photo. Additional activities include bounce houses, face painting, and more.

States say court must block Dept. of Education's Title IX controversial rule

By: Brendan Clarey
The Center Square

States and private organizations argued this month that the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals should overturn a district court decision allowing the Biden administration to implement its expanded Title IX rules ahead of oral arguments next month.

The Department of Education previously argued that the appellate court should side with a district court's ruling to allow the rule to go into effect while litigation continues. The argument is the latest legal salvo by states against the federal government over the changes to include gender identity under the law prohibiting sex discrimination at the nation's educational institutions.

Alabama, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina asked the court to enter a preliminary injunction to stop the Department of Education from enforcing the rule in those states based on the Supreme Court's decision in DOE v. Louisiana in August.

In that case, the Supreme Court sided with states to block the Biden administration's rule. In this month's filing, Alabama, Florida, Georgia and South Carolina told the appellate court that they are similarly situated to those already granted relief through a preliminary injunction.

"The Supreme Court's opinion in Louisiana requires this Court to hold that Plaintiffs were entitled to a preliminary injunction," the legal filing reads. "But even ignoring all nine Justices (and every other court), Plaintiffs were entitled to that relief."

The states also told the Court of Appeals that states shouldn't have to implement the rule piecemeal. The Department of Education maintains the non-controversial parts of the rule should go into effect.

"The Department's arguments for making the States immediately comply with a judicially redlined version of the rule remain unpersuasive," the court filing from the states reads. "And importantly, the Department doesn't dispute that the best way to issue a preliminary injunction is for this Court to issue one itself."

The Department of Education previously told the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals that the district denied the preliminary injunction because it found that the states "were unlikely to succeed in demonstrating that the handful of amendments they challenged were unlawful and that plaintiffs had failed to demonstrate irreparable harm."

The department maintains that it has the ability and responsibility to protect students under the federal antidiscrimination law, which it expanded earlier this year. The rule went into effect Aug. 1 and has been challenged by dozens of states and advocacy organizations.

Because of the legal challenges, courts have blocked it from going into effect in over half of states and thousands of K-12 schools, colleges and universities through preliminary injunctions.

Awards presented to honor communities

I must say that the 2024 Corridor of the Year Celebration last Thursday was fast paced, enjoyable, and full of energy. I gave out dozens of awards. My team honored the mandatory HOA's or neighborhood leader who participated in the Corridor of the Year Contest through organizing clean-ups or even just asking their landscaper to make improvements.

Each of the four streets – Votaw, Sheeler, Rose, and Powers had several miles of entranceways and frontage to improve. The corridors were evaluated by a team of judges on their grassy right-of-way area, condition of the wall or fencing, signage and landscape beds, and adherence to law enforcement safety standards – tree limbs cut up, bushes cut down, and proper lighting.

Each of the four streets had a top scoring neighborhood. These folks worked hard on improving their frontage and regularly picking up trash. They care very much about their community and making it safer, engaging, and prosperous. These individuals were resoundingly cheered on by their respective teams for their successful revitalizations.

I am thankful personally, professionally

Happy Thanksgiving!

As many of us do, I enjoy spending time this week reflecting on all that I'm thankful for.

While I am, of course, so thankful for so much in my personal life, like my loving family, my supportive friends and my home, I am also thankful for so much professionally.

First of all, I am incredibly thankful that my community and the voters have chosen me to represent them on the school board for the past six years.

As I was sworn in last week for another four-year term, I couldn't help but feel extremely blessed to be able to continue this important work every day.

While the work on the school board has been extremely challenging at times, it has also been extremely rewarding. As I said in my swearing-in speech, I firmly believe that there is nothing more important to the success and future of our society than ensuring that all children, no matter where they come from, are provided the opportunity for a high-quality, free and equitable public education.

I am honored that I get to work every day fighting for that right of our children, for our teachers and schools and most of all for the future of our community.

I am also thankful for all the teachers, administrators and staff that work in our schools every day. These are people who do not do this for fame, recognition or money. They do it because they love what they do and love our children.

Often our educators are not only teaching content, but they have to be parents for children without them, counselors for children who are struggling, and most of all supporters for children who don't have

Life and Liberty are necessary qualities for us to secure happiness

AMERICA, WAKE UP! Have we digressed so far that we cannot tell freedom from bondage? When you look in the mirror after waking up from your nightly slumber, what do you see? Do you see someone who has sold their liberty for the gifts that have been offered to keep you in bondage? Alexis de Tocqueville, a 19th century political philosopher, speaking about what people call "rights" stated, "It's not an endlessly expanding list of rights — the 'right' to education, the 'right' to health-care, the 'right' to food and housing. That's not freedom, that's dependency. Those aren't rights, those are the rations of slavery — hay and a barn for human cattle."

Can't you see it in our culture today? The rights promised by our constitution called "inalienable" by the founders are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. The first two are necessary for the last to be secured. Happiness is to be secured by pursuit, not given by the government using taxpayer money. It is remarkable that anyone should think they are more worthy or more adept at using my money for happiness than I am.

I believe Edward R.

Murrows hit the nail on the head when he made this observation: "A nation of sheep will beget a government of wolves." We certainly have become "sheeple" and we're following those who are wearing the big bell of diversity and detraction. It has been said, "The American Republic will endure until the day Congress discovers that it can bribe the public with the public's money." Well, here we are. This administration has reached the discovery and have now implemented it. We are to be the governing body, not the governed, but I fear we have become too mesmerized by the opiates promised by the government to react in a sensible manner. No longer do we seek happiness, rather we seek someone to make us happy. We forget the people in our past that made America what it is. Speaking of those who lived, loved, married, had children, and survived by small heroic acts of selflessness. In her book "Middlemarch,"

George Eliot wrote: "Unhistoric acts of those who live faithfully a hidden life, and rest in unvisited tombs." All part of the making of the land we call America, and its history. We think of the grander, more extraordinary happenings when we talk of history, but without those who were a part of daily life in general, there would be no history. History is propagated by ordinary people doing extraordinary

Orange County, nonprofit partner to give rooftop solar installations

Orange County property owners now have access to affordable rooftop solar installations through a partnership with the nonprofit Solar United Neighbors. The newly named program – “Solar Switch” – provides information on solar energy and offers an opportunity to consider installing rooftop solar and optional battery storage at a competitive price

“This is an excellent opportunity to learn more about using clean, renewable energy from the sun to power your home and save money,” Orange County Mayor Jerry L. Demings said in a news release. “In addition, the bonus of battery storage provides relief during power outages and is another step toward resilience for our community.”

To learn more, residents should register at SolarSwitch.com/Orange-County by January 15, 2025. Based upon the information provided, SolarSwitch will follow up with a personal recommendation and offer that includes estimated costs, savings, and expected electricity generation. There is no obligation to accept.

Solar United Neighbors is a nonprofit organization that represents the needs and interests of solar owners and supporters. Solar co-ops are part of the organization’s mission to create a new energy system with rooftop solar at the cornerstone. FEMA has extended grace periods for affected policyholders

TALLAHASSEE –

As a result of the severe damage and historic flooding in Florida caused by Hurricanes Helene and Milton, FEMA extended the policy renewal deadline for certain National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) policyholders to prevent a lapse in NFIP flood coverage.

These policyholders have until Dec. 10, 2024, to renew their policies. This is a significant extension from the standard 30-day renewal grace period.

If they have not done so, policyholders should be sure to ask their insurance agent or company about advance claims payments to help start their recovery. Advance payments may be available of up to $20,000 prior to a visit from an adjuster.

The grace period for policyholders affected by Helene and Milton in Florida will be extended based on the below schedule.

If the policy term ended on: August 28, 2024, September 26, 2024, October 5, 2024 or November 1, 2024, the grace period has been extended to December 14, 2024. If the policy ended on November 15, 2024, the grace period extends to December 14, 2024.

Policyholders whose NFIP policy renewal date is within this range should contact their agent or insurance company.

For example, if the original policy expiration date was Aug. 28, 2024, the policy may be renewed on or before Dec. 10, 2024. Holders of active policies can file claims for damage received from Hurricanes Helene or Milton if the premium is paid.

Other Actions to Help Policyholders

The NFIP has extended the proof of loss requirement for policyholders who suffered flood damage from Hurricanes

Helene and Milton from the standard 60 days to 120 days from the date of loss.

The NFIP also authorized its Write Your Own program. Insurance company partners and the NFIP Direct pay claims based on the adjuster's report without requiring policyholders to sign a proof of loss. When a policyholder seeks additional payment for any reason or disagrees with the adjuster report, they may still submit a signed proof of loss to the insurer along with supporting documentation. This can include a contractor's estimate, bills, receipts, photographs and other related documents.

Anyone affected by Helene or Milton who has an NFIP flood insurance policy and has suffered flood damage should file their claim now. Evacuated policyholders can still start their claim and provide specifics later once local officials say it's safe to return home.

Policyholders who wish to take advantage of the grace period should contact their agent or insurance company. Those who don't have their insurance agent or company's contact information should call 877-336-2627 for assistance.

FEMA also encourages NFIP policyholders affected by Helene or Milton to apply for federal disaster assistance. The three ways to apply are visiting disasterassistance.gov, calling 800-621-3362 or using the FEMA App. Survivors may receive funds to help with essential items like food, water, baby formula and other emergency supplies. Funds may also be available to repair storm-related damage to homes and personal property, as well as assistance to find a temporary place to stay.

To learn more about how to file a flood insurance claim visit floodsmart.gov.

senting People of Clarcona-Ocoee – Fred Ray and Horseshoe Bend

One neighborhood in particular took a significant amount of time to improve. This subdivision required new fencing, wall repair, significant tree trimming, gutted landscape beds, tree planting and a new entranceway sign. And thus, I awarded the Most Improved Neighborhood to Tealwood Cove on Rose Avenue. The neighborhood leaders were Larry Branan, Greg Mellowe and Judy Clark.

Judy Clark loves filling beds with native plantings and has maintained her entranceway for over seven years. And after applying for a Neighborhood Grant and recognizing the new signage wasn't in keeping with the style of her native plantings, she made her own sign. Judy is truly an inspiration to all of us. Greg Mellowe keeps up with necessary advocacy with local governments, and Larry Branan was the very active Corridor Chief for all of Rose Avenue. He organized no less than six clean-ups, fence repair and staining, and the painting of three dozen roses on the fencing just for this one neighborhood. I would say it took a team, but in the case of Tealwood Cove, it took an army. I'm now seeing, internal to the subdivision, fewer code violations, greater care, and concern for front yards, and I hope collegiality. Next steps include organizing social events to bring greater comradery.

As part of Orange County's Neighborhood Services Department, which incidentally, gives out $15,000 grants to neighborhoods for making improvements to walls, signage, irrigation, etc. I chose a gentleman as the District 2 Person of the Year for the annual conference. This man, his wife and crew stained much of the Tealwood Cove fencing. He, regularly and without remuneration, mows a large pond area near Riverside Park and Magnolia Homes Road and pressure-washes portions of sidewalk along Rose Avenue. He cleaned up all the residual Hurricane Milton debris along Rose Avenue the day before the judges arrived. I would like to recognize the District 2 Person of the Year – Pastor Mike Bardwell.

And finally, the granddaddy award for the program is the 2024 Corridor of the Year trophy. Four teams competed with the following corridors - Votaw Road, Sheeler Road, Powers Drive, and Rose Avenue. The program runs February through November with two months off during the high heat of summer. Monthly or weekly in October clean-ups took place, correspondence, or personal visits to all property owners along the corridor, recruitment of auxiliary groups for assistance where residents wouldn't engage (Apopka Professional Firefighters, students from Apopka High School, Devereux, Dismas Charities, and other non-profits) and monthly collaborative planning meetings. Yes, it was a full year's worth of improvement.

The ultimate winner started out near the bottom in initial scoring. They had to cajole property owners to replace fencing, clean up dozens of individual yards for elderly or infirm residents, replant entranceway landscaping, convince HOAs to participate, trim up areas of severely neglected natural tree canopy, contend with blighted businesses along an industrial section, and paint dozens of flowers to hide the true condition of fencing.

The 2024 Corridor of the Year winner is Rose Avenue represented by the People of Lockhart. It is their second win in four years. The 2021 winner was Wekiwa Springs Road. The 2022 winner was Magnolia Homes Road. The 2023 winner was Clarcona-Ocoee Road. Southern Apopka is still in search of a win – the team just ran out of steam at the end.

For my final year as county commissioner, (we are only allowed to serve two consecutive terms), the teams will focus on commercial areas. POWS will work on the north side of SR 436 from Line Drive to Lake Pleasant Road. POCO will improve US 441 from Rose Avenue to Clarcona Ocoee Road. POL will work on Edgewater Drive also from Rose to Clarcona-Ocoee. POSA will work on Clarcona or Park Avenue from Keene Road north to US 441. I will also be trying to recruit and pull together members for a North Apopka Team with the goal of working along Rock Springs Road from Rock Springs Ridge to Welch Road.

All in all, it has been a great year. Thank you to the more than 300 volunteers who made it all happen

Byrd: Community workers are thanked anyone else in their corner. They dedicate enormous amounts of their time to our children by finding ways to engage them and inspire them.

It's no wonder that these community members are often referred to as heroes.

I am also incredibly thankful for a community that supports our schools the way they do. Our school district has thousands of business partners across Orange County that support the work and our children. We also have thousands of volunteers who work with our schools each day.

The amount of time and talent that is shared with our public schools is inspiring and powerful. Not every community has this kind of support, and our public schools are better because of it.

Finally, I am thankful for all the sweet children I am lucky enough to interact with as a school board member. From the kindergarteners who make me laugh to the seniors whose hands I get to shake on graduation day, they each are a bright shining reminder of why I do what I do and of the bright future that lies ahead for all of us.

Hayden: Encouragement is necessary

We need to become that people again. We need to encourage one another to stand and be counted. In society today, we have an administration that states we can think what we want to, but you will be ignored, and you will be mocked to the point people will think you are losing it. The master no longer says, "Think as I think or die." Now we are told we can go our own way, but you will be ostracized from humanity. You will be shunned, and people will point at you, call you a detractor, devisor, racist, and you will be treated as a stranger. Even those that you call friends will turn away in fear of joining you in your non-person status.

Oh, they tell you they will not take your life, but the life of subordination they offer is worse than death.

Patrick Henry said it best: "Give me liberty or give me death!" The only thing democracy and socialism have in common is the word "equality." The difference is democracy seeks equality in justice and liberty while socialism seeks equality in bondage and slavery. You can follow the "Judas goat" up the ramp to slaughter as the sheep do, to their own butchering, or you can make the decision to bring back our Democratic Republic by being secure in your belief in America and getting up and getting busy.

We do not need the government telling us what they can give us for our happiness. We need to pursue our own happiness by getting down to the "nitty-gritty," by going to work, and as Roger Miller once said, "Knuckle down, buckle down, do it, do it, do it!"

The Way I See It

Patti Bankson

Thanksgiving’s Not Just One Day

If not always being able to remember which day of the week it is, or when a holiday or special event is coming up, is cause for concern that my brain is aging. I should have started being concerned right after I got out of school! That’s part of the reason I’m always writing about something after the fact. Coupling that with deadlines early in the week with the fact that I actually prefer writing about something after the fact. That way I don’t have to try to imagine what is going to happen, I can write about what did happen, and all the details.

I said all that to say that, once again, I’ve been blissfully unaware of Thanksgiving sneaking up on me, then rushing by, leaving behind lots of leftovers, and, of course ... the memories.

One of the contributing factors to my being so unaware is one of the many things I’m thankful for ... my children. With three daughters and a daughter-in-law (“who’s more of another daughter than an “in-law”) who are great cooks and big-hearted hostesses, along with a son and son-in-law (see “above”) who are willingly recruited as helpers, they’ve thoughtfully and graciously taken over our family holidays, leaving me with nothing to do but enjoy being with them.

I know that for many this is just a time for turkey and all that goes with it; a football game, a gathering of family and, unfortunately, all too often, a reminder of family splits and disagreements, reminders of what they don’t have.

For too many life is ... what, empty? Dismal? Hopeless? I can’t walk in another’s shoes and I realize that “I understand” can often seem not to be enough, but I do understand some things ...

I understand what it’s like to not have “enough” ... I’ve lived those times. I understand what it’s like to live a life that’s falling to pieces around you ... I’ve lived those times. I understand addiction ... I’ve lived that. I understand what it’s like to see your marriage failing, believing there’s no rescue ... I’ve lived that, too. I understand what it’s like to lose the love of your life ... I’m living that now. This is the second Thanksgiving since losing my husband and it’s still so surreal, like nothing I could have imagined.

I don’t know how long the pain of his loss will be with me, but this much I understand, and know ... that God, having sent His only Son to die for me, also knows that pain, and understands.

I know that Jesus can take away addiction. I know He can pick up the pieces of a broken life and put it back together. I know He can heal broken hearts and homes. I know He can fill empty places. I know He can bring peace into chaos. I know He can do all that and more ... whatever it is you wished you could be thankful for this Thanksgiving, He can provide. If you ask, He hears and answers ... He can make every day Thanksgiving Day.

In the midst of all the holiday hustle and bustle, talking and laughter, when, unbidden, memories of holidays-past swirl around me, I’m reminded of how quickly time goes by and how easily one event can turn your life, as you know it, upside down. I’m reminded that, even though I believe in eternal life with Jesus, all we have on this Earth is now, so don’t waste a minute. With Him, it’s possible to enjoy “the moment,” and to be thankful for it. And, I am.

We’d like to know What YOU think?

AdventHealth Central Fla. hospitals earned ‘A’ safety grade from Leapfrog Group

All of AdventHealth’s Central Florida hospitals earned an “A” Hospital Safety Grade from The Leapfrog Group, an independent national nonprofit watchdog focused on patient safety. Leapfrog assigns an “A,” “B,” “C,” “D” or “F” grade to general hospitals across the country based on over 30 performance measures reflecting errors, accidents, injuries and infections, as well as the systems hospitals have in place to prevent them. AdventHealth announced its Leapfrog Group status on Friday, November 15.

The “A” grades went to the following AdventHealth hospitals: Altamonte Springs, Apopka; Celebration, East Orlando, Kissimmee, Orlando, Winter Garden, and Winter Park. “Patient safety is at the core of our mission at AdventHealth. I’m proud the commitment to excellence is embedded across all our hospitals in Central Florida,” said Brian Adams, president and CEO of AdventHealth’s Central Florida Division. “To once again be recognized by The Leapfrog Group speaks to our team members’ devotion and skill in providing whole-person care.”

“Achieving an ‘A’ Hospital Safety Grade is a significant accomplishment for AdventHealth,” said Leah Binder, president and CEO of The Leapfrog Group. “It reflects enormous dedication to your patients and their families, and your whole community should be proud. I extend my congratulations to AdventHealth’s Central Flori-

Florida surpasses 6,400 bonuses for new police recruits in November

By Bethany Blankley
The Center Square

Florida surpassed giving 6,400 bonuses to new law enforcement recruits this month.

Gov. Ron DeSantis announced that Florida was making 300 new bonus awards to law enforcement officers this month, reaching the milestone of 6,400 bonuses awarded to new recruits through the Florida Law Enforcement Recruitment Bonus Payment Program.

“Florida welcomes law enforcement officers from across the country to a state where they will be recognized and appreciated,” DeSantis said. “Florida celebrates the law enforcement profession and encourages people to join the force. Law enforcement officers make enormous personal sacrifices for the communities they serve, and they deserve higher pay and more support.”

The latest round of 300 bonuses were awarded to officers serving in counties impacted by hurricanes Debby, Helene and Milton.

DeSantis launched the program in 2022 after blue states began implementing anti-police initiatives including defunding their police departments.

Florida's recruitment bonus program provides a one-time, $5,000 bonus – after taxes – to newly employed officers in the state. So far, more than $43.3 million worth of bonuses have been distributed through the program.

To date, more than 1,560 law enforcement officers from 49 states and two territories have relocated to Florida because of the program. More than 470 came “from anti-police states like California, Illinois, and

New York,” according to the governor's office.

The 6,400 milestone is a significant increase from when DeSantis in February presented the 4,000th bonus check to a Bay County Sheriff's deputy who relocated from Virginia to take advantage of the program.

In July, Attorney General Ashley Moody also welcomed new police officers to Florida after they relocated from Georgia, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, New Mexico and New York, The Center

Square reported.

“Florida is the most pro-law enforcement state in the nation because we back our blue,” Moody said. “We’ve been spreading the word about all the great incentives to join our ranks, and individuals like the new Sarasota recruits have answered the call – leaving behind places where their service was not as appreciated as it is here.”

“This is a law-and-order state. Officers want to be able to do their job,”

Police: Officers may be eligible for home purchase assistance

Sarasota Police Chief Rex Troche said at the time with Moody, noting that his office has greatly benefitted from new recruits. “There is no better feeling than when you know that you can go out there and be supported in enforcing the law. I’ve talked with officers all around the country and when state attorneys are not assisting them, it makes those officers not want to do their jobs. Thanks to the work of Attorney General Moody and Gov. DeSantis, officers know that when you come to the state of Florida, you are going to be able to do, and be supported in, doing your job.” DeSantis has argued that communities are struggling nationwide in jurisdictions where politicians embraced defunding law enforcement and “soft on crime policies” like implementing no cash bail. In 2020, the Florida legislature passed protections against defunding law enforcement and began allocating funding to give law enforcement officers $1,000 bonuses for three consecutive years. In 2022, the recruitment program was created. Every legislative session, funding is renewed for the program. Moody also launched several pro-law enforcement initiatives, including the Thin Line Tribute and Sunshine Salute Series to recognize those in law enforcement statewide. In addition to the new recruit bonus program, law enforcement officers may be eligible for the Hometown Heroes Housing Program, which provides frontline workers in more than 100 eligible professions with down payment and closing cost assistance to help purchase a primary residence in the communities where they work. A Plea for Tolerance

Tolerant persons respect and accept persons who are different from themselves. Tolerant persons not only learn more about others—and other cultures—but they also tend to have more friends and promote peace and understanding in their lives. We live in an era where many people are leaving their home countries in search of better lives for themselves and their families. It is unfortunate that so many countries are so poorly governed that people feel compelled to leave, but that is the state of today’s world. Those of us who live in more affluent, better-run countries may be inclined to feel that the immigrants who come here drag us down, but that is usually not the case. Most immigrants desire to work and contribute to the common good, which they usually do after being here for a short time. Statistics show that first-generation immigrants commit fewer crimes than native born citizens, are more likely to start their own businesses, and they usually bring with them a sense of gratitude for all that their new country offers. We are incredibly fortunate to live in a country which is sought by so many throughout the world. We should be tolerant of those who come here seeking a better life. They may need some extra help at first, but eventually they will add much to the common good. And finally, remember that all of us ultimately came from somewhere else.

A FOCUS ON SENIOR CITIZENS

Documentation of Island Pond Cemeteries and Island Pond Primitive Baptist Church

We are working with the descendants of former slaves from the Delk plantation to restore, preserve and maintain their family cemeteries. We know that Anthony Frazier, who is buried in the Wekiva Springs State Park, is connected to this family group. We believe that Joseph Delk Roberts, Anthony's half brother, may be related to this family group. There is a chance he is buried in one of the Island Pond cemeteries. We may never know for sure. Having a clear photo of any of these early figures is on our wish list. That is why we are appealing to The Apopka Chief and The Planter to reach out to their readers to help us find a better copy of a long-lost photograph that first appeared in the pages of the newspaper. To me, it feels like the words of the editor/writer were almost prophetic when readers were directed to cut out and save the story of the article on Rock Springs. Indeed, we should never lose touch with the early history of the place again.

Originally published in an April 1926, edition of The Apopka Chief Joseph G. Roberts, who lived on a Cotton Plantation at Rock Springs 75 years ago.

A weird tale, rich in romance and history and in which stories of the early pioneering days in Central Florida, adventure, war, feudalism and bloodshed are strangely mingled, is that of the early settlement and development of the country around Rock Springs, about five miles North of Apopka.

Rock Springs has long been known as one of the most delightful spots in Florida. The natural beauty of the place fairly entrances one, while the spring itself, gushing from under a huge lime rock at the rate of 26,000 gallons a minute, pure and cold, is one of the natural wonders of the State. The water flowing from the spring during the centuries that are gone, has worn a picturesque amphitheatre in the rock. Making a semi-circular turn, it goes on its merry jaunt toward the St. Johns River, making glad music on its way over the shallows and under great cypress trees and oaks that form a canopy over the bed of the stream.

(As published in the April 1926, edition. The layout is different but the photograph and words are the same.)

Profile of Island Pond and Island Pond Primitive Baptist Church

Island Pond was a settlement of African Americans created after the United States Civil War. Many of the early residents were already living near the area prior to the end of the war. Some were slaves of William Shelton Delk, a landowner of what is today known as Rock Springs at Kelly Park in Apopka. Little is known about these first settlers of Island Pond. Burrell Reese and Jackson Knight were among them. Through the Homestead Act, Jackson Knight acquired his nearly 160 acres in 1883 and Burrell acquired his in 1885. They owned adjoining parcels, both of which would contain cemeteries in the southwest corners of their parcels. Today those cemeteries are known as Island Pond Cemetery One and Island Pond Cemetery Two. A third site of significance was the Island Pond Primitive Baptist Church. The one-acre parcel for the church was provided by Mack Reese, a son of Burrell Reese, from his own property acquired through the Homestead Act. These two cemeteries are the only tangible evidence of the existence of this early community. The economic hardships caused by the freezes that devastated the citrus crops, the dying out of the pines used in the turpentine and timber industry, employment opportunities in the booming towns of Eustis and Mt. Dora, along with the arrival of northerners looking to invest in land were all factors that likely contributed to the movement of people from Island Pond to the surrounding towns. Over time, the lands have changed hands from private owners, to timber companies, to citrus cooperatives, to residents, and now land developers. The community of Island Pond no longer exists. It is now only the name of a small body of water south of Lake Seneca in Eustis. It is safe to say that most residents of East Lake County have not heard of Island Pond or its historic cemeteries.

Island Pond does not show up on the road map of history again until the year 2010 when two women from Ft. Pierce, Florida came to Central Florida looking for their roots. Grieving the loss of their father, Margaret Reese-Williams and her sister Ethel Reed began tracing their family tree. Margaret uncovered death certificates that listed the location of Island Pond as the final resting spot of many of their ancestors. Margaret learned that Burrell Reese is her great-great grandfather. Jackson Knight was married to a Betty Reese. Both Island Pond One and Island Pond Two hold Margaret's and Ethel's ancestors. That revelation set the sisters on a path, much of it uphill, to restoring and preserving the two cemeteries.

Margaret and her family have had some help along the way. Both cemeteries are currently owned by private residents. In a 2010 Orlando Sentinel newspaper article covering Margaret's story, both property owners are quoted giving their support to the restoration of these sites. This news article caught the attention of Mount Dora Fire Lieutenant Bobby Liles. He reached out to Margaret and offered to help her clean up the cemeteries. Two attempts were made to clear away decades worth of vegetation at Island Pond One. The East Lake Historic Society took the project under their wings and made great strides at documenting the historic site. Sadly, with the passing of time, the vegetation quickly reclaimed Island Pond One.

On May 25, 2023, Florida Governor Ron DeSantis signed House Bill 49 into law. With his signature, the Historic Cemeteries Program was created within the Division of Historical Resources of the Florida Department of State. This program encourages and supports the collaborative effort to preserve, rehabilitate and share information related to abandoned and historic cemeteries. In addition to support from professionals at the Department of State, a grant program has been established. State universities, state agencies, units of local governments, cities, towns, counties, and non-profit organizations may apply. Private property owners are not eligible for state grant funding.

The news of potential grant funding to restore the Island Pond Cemeteries is what prompted the formation of two non-profit organizations; Island Pond Cemeteries Restoration and Preservation, Incorporated and Legacy Preservation and Education Group, Incorporated. During the course of researching Island Pond, other local abandoned historic cemeteries were discovered. The first nonprofit is dedicated only to Island Pond, whereas the second was created to fund the research and restoration of any cemetery project in the State of Florida.

While there are established procedures for researching, documenting, restoring, and maintaining abandoned cemeteries, the approach and journey for each project varies due to any number of circumstances. Each cemetery has its own unique story to tell. One fact that cannot be disputed is that it takes a collaborative effort from start to finish to ensure a successful project.

The restoration and preservation of the Island Pond cemeteries presents a number of challenges. Island Pond One is land locked with limited access to the site. There is no power or running water. The majority of grave markers have disappeared over time making it difficult to locate burials. Access down a private road has been granted on a temporary basis so there are time constraints to work within. Care must be given not to disturb the neighboring property owners and to respect their privacy. Tools and equipment will be needed and funds do not yet exist to cover the costs. The dense vegetation will be a challenge to remove. The work will be hot and tiring. People will be exposed to insects, poison ivy, and snakes. The initial work is not for the faint of heart. Once the vegetation has been cleared then the process of creating grids, identifying graves, and recording data will begin. Ground penetrating radar will be used to collect information below the surface of the soil. Markers will be placed to acknowledge the unmarked grave sites. And the history will be published that tells the stories of these early settlers whose labor laid the foundation for what would become Sorrento, Mount Dora, and Eustis. A management plan will be designed to ensure the site is maintained. In a few short years the construction of the Round Lake Road Extension will bring a modern road past the cemetery. Lake County has offered to install a driveway apron from this new road and the current land owner has offered to provide parking so that visitors may come to the site and pay their respects and learn about these pioneers of our area. This will happen under the guidance of the Florida Public Archaeology Network, the Florida Department of Historical Resources, university professors from the University of South Florida and the University of Central Florida. What has started out as two women's dream is poised now to become an historic endeavor. There is room for you on this journey. We welcome any offer of support.

Previous writings related to this history has been slim and contain some inaccuracies. Online at the Sorrento, Lake Co., FL USA (franmuse.com) website, is the passage that is quoted below.

"These first white settlers found several colored families living about a mile north of Sorrento. They were slaves and children of slaves from the plantation of Mr. Delk at Rock Springs. When freed at the beginning of the Civil War, some joined the Union Army, but at the close of the war they returned to settle near the home of their mother, Aunt Hettie Weir, from whom many of the early settlers bought their first orange trees. Two other colored families lived on the Rock Springs road - Uncle Pete and Aunt Mary Frazier and their children and Joe Jenkins and his family. Their descendants still live in this section."

"Weir" is a misspelling. The correct spelling is Ware. Hettie shows up first in the 1870 Census as Hettie Bacon, a 40-year-old woman living with her 16-year-old daughter, Nancy Bacon. In 1873, Hettie marries Jackson Clipper. On December 25, 1876 Hettie marries Isaac Ware in Volusia, Florida. Further searches have turned up deeds in Hettie and Isaac Ware's names. Her last will and testament was drawn up on November 14, 1898 and filed on March 12, 1915.

Pioneer Trails of Lake County, by William F. Gouveia may be found in both the Sorrento and Eustis libraries in a spiral bound photo copied book. It is registered with the Library of Congress but does not contain a bibliography so that sources may be verified. It is believed that William Gouveia pulled information from an article published in the book Pioneer Florida by newspaperman D.B. McKay of the Tampa Tribune. In Pioneer Trails of Lake County, Gouveia says that after the Civil War, Joseph Delk returned in 1868 to Sorrento to homestead. Joseph's fellow freed men joined him and Aunt Hettie Weir in Sorrento in a section called "Benton's Prairie." There they planted citrus groves and later sold the root stock to arriving white settlers.

Gouveia falsely attributes D.B. McKay as the one who interviewed Joseph Roberts but in reading the passage from Pioneer Florida, McKay says he learned of the story when a woman named Mrs. W.P. Link sent him a large collection of old newspaper clippings. Among them was the article from the May 13, 1926 issue of the Apopka Chief. McKay goes on to quote much of the article in his column that is published in the book, Pioneer Florida. Joseph Roberts claims to have been a former slave and the son of planter William Shelton Delk. Delk owned Rock Springs where Kelly Park is located today. The 1860 Slave Schedule of the U.S. Census does document that Delk was a slave holder living at Rock Springs. There is no reason to doubt Joseph Roberts interview in the Apopka Chief. The article is included below.

These holiday recipes will certainly create delicious memories

Emily Meggett's Meatloaf uses inexpensive ingredients and can last for days, even for large families. She says "this dish for my family when I wanted to cook something simple that would serve everybody. Because of the heartiness of this dish, we'd usually" enjoy meatloaf in the fall or winter.

From What's Cookin'?, we have Shrimp or Chicken Curry. This recipe was contributed by Mrs. Myrtle Womble who suggests serving it over hot, steamy rice.

Spinach au Gratin from Charles-ton Receipts looks like a dish suitable for a special occasion. It was contributed by Mrs. Thomas A. Huguenin (Mary Vereen).

We have Violet Schoening's fresh apple cake from the in-house recipe book given us by Northside Baptist Church. Ms. Schoening's advice is to use a glass baking dish and says it is good even with no frosting. It can be frozen for use later.

From the Stay at Home Chef, we have Old Fashioned Homemade Eggnog from Rachel Farnsworth. This is a real treat for me because I remember while celebrating at my Grannie's house, she served a very thick and creamy eggnog. That eggnog is the "nonpareil" by which I judge all others. And, of course, they never measure up to Grannie's eggnog. I sincerely hope Ms. Farnsworth's eggnog will prove to be its equal. I was way too young to realize I was missing a wonderful opportunity to ask for Grannie's recipe. Now, I don't have my Grannie to ask.

EMILY MEGGETT'S MEATLOAF

Recipe from Gullah Geechee Home Cooking
by Emily Meggett
2 pounds ground beef
1 pound lean bulk sausage, preferably Jimmy Dean
1/2 cup breadcrumbs

1 large onion, grated
1 bell pepper, grated
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 large eggs
1-1/2 teaspoons seasoning salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tomato, roughly chopped
Ketchup, to taste
Bell pepper slices (optional), for garnish

1) Preheat the oven to 350 degrees Fahrenheit. 2) In a large mixing bowl, combine all the ingredients, excluding the ketchup and water. Form the mixture into a loaf and place on a sheet of foil on the non-shiny side, then drizzle the top of the meatloaf with ketchup. 3) Tightly close the foil around the meatloaf. Place in a 5 by 9-inch loaf pan. Pour 3/4 cup water around the foil package so the dish will not burn. Bake for 45 to 50 minutes, until well done. Garnish with bell peppers, if using.

MRS. MYRTLE WOMBLE'S SHRIMP OR CHICKEN CURRY

Recipe from What's Cookin'?
Published by The Apopka Woman's Club
3 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup minced onion
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
3 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon ground ginger
1 cup chicken broth (or 1 chicken bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup hot water)
1 cup milk
2 cups cooked, cleaned shrimp or 2 cups cut-up cooked chicken
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
Melt butter over low heat in heavy saucepan. Saute onion and curry powder in melted butter. Blend in flour and seasonings. Cook over low heat until mixture is smooth and bubbly. Remove from heat. Stir in chicken broth and milk. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute. Add shrimp or chicken and the lemon juice. Serve over rice. Makes 4 servings.

MRS. THOMAS A. HUGUENIN'S SPINACH AU GRATIN

Recipe from Charleston Receipts
2 pounds fresh spinach
4 tablespoons melted butter
2 tablespoons flour
1-1/2 cups sharp cheese (grated)
4 hard-boiled eggs (chopped)
Salt and cayenne to taste
Wash spinach thoroughly, then place moist spinach in a saucepan without adding more water. Cover and cook for seven minutes or until tender. Drain well. Mix two tablespoons butter and the flour and add spinach. Season well with salt and cayenne. Add the other tablespoons melted butter, chopped eggs and one cup grated cheese. Mix well. Put in buttered casserole and cover with 1/2 cup grated cheese. Brown for 25 minutes at 350 degrees. Serves six.

VIOLET SCHOENING'S FRESH APPLE CAKE

Recipe from
Northside Baptist Church cookbook
1-1/4 cup oil
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
2-1/2 cups flour
1 cup pecans
3 cups raw apples
Mix in order. Pour batter into 9- x 13-inch baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 55-60 minutes. Cool, slice and serve from pan. Best if pan is glass.
Frosting:
1 stick butter, soft
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons evaporated milk
1 cup dark brown sugar
Powdered sugar, as needed.
Cream butter, salt, milk and brown sugar. Stir in powdered sugar until it takes form and spread over cooled cake.

This cake may be frozen. And it is good even without the frosting.

RACHEL FARNSWORTH'S OLD FASHIONED HOMEMADE EGGNOG

Recipe from the Stay at Home Chef
by Rachel Farnsworth
2-1/2 cups milk
4 whole cinnamon sticks
1/8 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
7 egg yolks
3/4 cup white sugar
2 cups heavy cream or half and half for a light version
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1/8 teaspoon ground nutmeg

1) Put the milk, cinnamon sticks, cloves, and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla into a large saucepan. Put it over the lowest heat setting on your stove for 5 minutes. 2) In a separate bowl, whisk together the egg yolks and sugar for 1 minute. 3) Turn the heat under the milk up to medium-high heat. Remove the cinnamon sticks. 4) Slowly whisk in about 1/4 of the hot milk into the egg/sugar mixture. Then pour all of the egg/sugar mixture back into the saucepan and whisk it all together. Put it over medium heat, whisking constantly, for 3 minutes. It will thicken a bit. 5) Pour the hot eggnog into a large bowl or beverage container and let cool at room temperature for 1 hour. Add cinnamon sticks back in (optional). 6) After 1 hour, stir in the heavy cream, 2 teaspoons vanilla, and nutmeg. Store in the fridge and allow to cool for at least 4 hours before serving.

Note: Ms. Farnsworth says that it can be made uncooked as it is traditionally with raw eggs. To keep it safe for everyone, she has written the recipe as cooked. For an uncooked version, whisk egg yolks, sugar, cloves, and nutmeg in a large mixing bowl. Replace the cinnamon sticks with 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon and whisk in with the egg yolks. Slowly pour in milk, cream and vanilla extract, whisk until thoroughly combined. Alcohol can be added if you wish: dark rum, cognac, bourbon.

is to Remember the fallen, Honor those who serve, and Teach our children the value of freedom, proudly announces its theme for 2024: "Live with Purpose." Each year, millions of volunteers and patriots gather in local, state, and national cemeteries across all 50 states and abroad to pay tribute to our nation's service members and their families. This year's theme, "Live with Purpose," draws inspiration from the remarkable stories of these volunteers whose impactful work in their communities is a beacon of inspiration for all. "Over the course of the last year, and then especially on the escort to Arlington last December, I listened to people who had gone through great adversity, and they'd taken that adversity and turned it around as a call to action to spend the rest of their lives making sure that every day was meaningful and that they lived with purpose," Karen Worcester, executive director of Wreaths Across America, said in a statement. "For me, to live with purpose is a mindset." As part of this year's theme, WAA will be sharing a monthly video series and corresponding lesson plans starting in February that speak to the 10 bouquets that make up a veteran's wreath – these are the 10 attributes or characteristics that WAA believes define our nation's service members – a symbol of honor, respect and victory. In 2023, over three million sponsored veterans' wreaths were placed by volunteers on headstones at 4,225 participating locations worldwide. Wreaths Across America volunteers tirelessly work year-round to Remember, Honor, and Teach, with each name spoken out loud in grateful acknowledgment of the sacrifices made by our veterans for our freedoms. Follow the impactful stories of those volunteers and supporters living with purpose throughout the year using the tag #Live-WithPurpose and tune in to Wreaths Across America Radio, available on the iHeart Radio app, TuneIn, and the Audacy app, or listen at WreathsAcrossAmerica.org/radio.
